

SUCCESS STORIES

Hydreco Hydraulics Italia & Fratelli Camisa

1. Who is the customer

Camisa is an Italian company specialized in the design and construction of professional agricultural and construction machinery, primarily used in viticulture and construction sectors. With a strong focus on product innovation, Camisa stands out for its robust, versatile solutions that are highly oriented toward the real needs of field operators.

2. The needs

With the goal of developing a new generation of more high-performing, versatile, and compact machines, Camisa was looking for a partner capable of delivering a complete solution for the control components of its machinery. It was essential to find a supplier able to speed up the supply chain and ensure the right level of customization for the components.

3. The Hydreco solution

Hydreco designed and delivered a tailor-made system consisting of compact double pumps and hydraulic joysticks with customized grips, developed based on feedback from Camisa's operators. The result? Faster development times, fewer errors, and a tangible increase in field performance.

With Hydreco, we found a partner capable of speaking our same technical language. Integrating their solutions allowed us to shorten development times and improve command precision, with tangible benefits for the operator."
